YOUR BODY NEEDS WHAT YOU NEED FOR A BEAUTIFUL LOOK?

Your body requires appropriate nutrients to function properly—not just vitamins and minerals. For example, the skin is composed of, among others: such as collagen and hyaluronic acid. These are essential building blocks for a beautiful appearance.

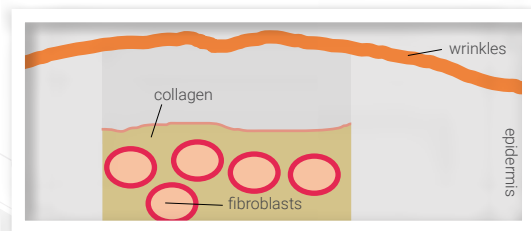

Nutrient deficiencies also have a direct impact on the appearance and quality of the skin. It's not possible to supply these essential ingredients solely through creams.

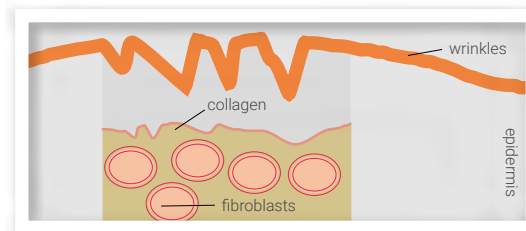

YOUR BODY NEEDS

WHY ARE SUPPLEMENTS SO IMPORTANT?

Generally, the skin is structured in a way that prevents the penetration of substances from the outside, especially those with a higher molecular weight. Without proper nutrients provided from within (e.g., through dietary supplements), the skin loses its essential properties.

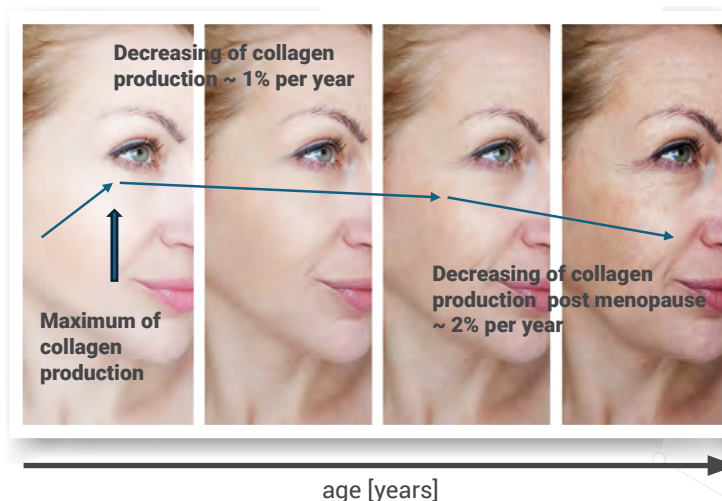

Skin supported by appropriate dietary ingredients delivered from the inside in oral form.

Loss of skin firmness without proper nutrients provided from the inside (e.g. in the form of dietary supplements).

AGING EFFECTS WE CAN INFLUENCE

Our body's internal production of certain substances decreases with age. For example, collagen production peaks in early adulthood and declines as we get older. As collagen levels decrease, we see and feel the effects of aging: fine lines and wrinkles, loss of elasticity, dryness, brittle nails, and thinning, graying hair. We can support our body by providing these substances through dietary supplements—concentrated sources of essential nutrients. In this way, we can try to counteract the effects of aging.

Decrease of collagen production with age.
